

I am very concerned the FCC is considering limiting Indiana's Privacy Law regarding solicitation phone calls. Since listing my number with the attorney general, I have gone from 12-15 phone calls per day to one to none. Previously, from 6pm (when returning home from work) the phone would ring continuously offering mortgage rates, credits cards, roofing, etc ALL of which I do not need. I call and request these services if I am in need. I am a professional, holding 2 graduate degrees, work long hours, and do not appreciate my limited family and personal time invaded by unwanted and UNREQUESTED calls for services. Please do not limit our state's privacy law. Sincerely, Rev. Janet E. Tackitt, MDiv, MSN., RN.
